

I listen to KLOVE on 90.3 FM here in Grand Junction Colorado. I like to listen to KLOVE because I always know that what I will be hearing is wholesome and I don't have to worry about what my little boy is picking up from the radio. When my son was born and I would be up with him at night, I could turn on KLOVE and listen to calming and relaxing music that would also be supportive of my beliefs which was reassuring late at night.

If KLOVE were not a part of our community, we would lose the most listened to (and one of only two) christian radio stations in this area. The other christian radio station caters to the older crowd and KLOVE caters to the younger crowd. Without KLOVE, the younger generation will have to turn to mainstream radio stations for their music. I believe that KLOVE is a vital asset to our community.
